Medicine

Dr. Brock Chisholm, of Ottawa, director-general of the United Nations World Health Organization, left for New Delhi to plan a regional health office in south-east Asia to coordinate the battle against malaria and other diseases. Conference, attended by India, Ceylon, Siam, Burma and Afghanistan, will open Oct. 4 and will last for two weeks.

DR. BROCK CHISHOLM

... Fighting diseases.

Addressing the B.C. Medical Association at Vancouver, Dr. T. C. Routley, general secretary of the Canadian Medical Association, said: "There has arisen in this country a schism between public health and therapeutic medicine." The meeting approved the principle of contributory health and insurance, and opposed that of state medicine.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weiss of Philadelphia are starting all over again with nickels, dimes and quarters to give their four-year-old son Ronald the best medical treatment. The boy has been paralyzed since a playpen fall three years ago. The Weiss' saved $500 in that time to take him to the Mayo Clinic. Last week the boy disappeared.

Medical science has found no "magic drops" to cure arthritis, but Lou Green, mid-mannered, 57-year-old layman, maintains he has the secret. Speaking for the first time since his official repudiation, he said he had plans for a clinic and hopes to gain federal approval for sale of his medicine under the Pure Food and Drug Act.

At Bloomington, Ind., Dr. Herman J. Muller, internationally-gamous geneticist and winner of the 1946 Nobel prize in medicine, has cancelled his corresponding membership in the Soviet Academy of Sciences. A member of the academy since 1933, Muller said his action was in protest against purges of Russian scientists by high-ranking members of the academy.

Trade & Industry

The International Standards Commission, principal arm of standardizing British and American industrial and military equipment, appeared to have achieved its first measure of success in the two years, "an agreement on how Britain and the U.S. may manufacture nuts and bolts."

Airline

Visualizing rocket planes flying about the earth at 10,000 miles an hour or between planes at 20,000 miles an hour, Peter G. Macleod told the Royal Aeronautical Society at London that "although such projects may sound fantastic, the progression of this service is no greater than from the stage-coach of yesterday to the 30 mile-per-hour transport plane of today."

World

From Washington, it is reported that the new director of the World Bank is Donald Gordon, deputy-governor of the Bank of Canada, who succeeds Graham Townes, governor of the Bank of Canada.

C. B. BALDWIN

... Withdrawing candidates.

Robert G. Menzies, leader of the opposition in the Australian parliament, said in Southampton on the eve of his departure for Canada and the U.S., that he is sure Britain has greater power of recovery than she realizes. While in the U.S. he said he would emphasize that "a powerful Britain and British Empire are essential to America."

Turkey Orders
Ack-Ack Training
ISTANBUL, Turkey, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Informed sources in Ankara said last night all Turkish men outside military age have been ordered to report at once for nine days' training in anti-aircraft duty. Areas bordering the Black Sea, which Turkey shares with Russia, were instructed also to train the men in anti-invasion practice.

Bracken Accorded Great Ovation

Retiring Tory Chieftain Cheered by Followers

By Wm. "Spud" Murphy
Edmonton Bulletin Staff Reporter

OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—John Bracken laid down the leadership of the Progressive Conservative party with the goodwill and friendship of its members following him to his semi-retirement.

The 1,200 delegates, plus several thousands supporters, gave him what was possibly the greatest ovation of his career when the party leader stepped to the platform to surrender his leadership to the national convention because of illness.

The retiring chieftain spoke following the keynote address by Graham O'Leary, who labored out at the Liberal government for betraying liberalism, democracy and freedom.

Mrs. John Bracken, who has stood so loyally by her husband's side throughout his leadership years, surprisingly flicked away a few tears which she shared in the tribune as she shared in the tribune as she shared in the tribune as she shared in the tribune.

The convention swept away to a fast pace at the conclusion of the colorful ceremony attending the official opening.

BLASTS AT LIBERALS

Mr. O'Leary, joint chairman of the convention, in the keynote speech, lashed out at the Mackenzie King government, charging its betrayal of liberalism, democracy and freedom.

The Progressive Conservative party, he told the delegates was resuming its historic task of rescuing the country from crisis, and would bring a rebirth of freedom to Canada where years of Liberal rule had made a mockery of democracy.

Delegates howled their delight at Mr. O'Leary, when he cracked that the country was "sick and tired of death of government by conspiracy."

They caught immediately the subtle reference to Prime Minister King's passion for reserving important announcements and decisions to coincide with some bygone event.

And while the convention proceeded, the keynote speaker, Mr. O'Leary, said that the country was "sick and tired of death of government by conspiracy."

John where they, along with representatives of the Dawson Creek Chamber of Commerce, were entertained by the Fort St. John Board of Trade.

After returning from Fort St. John a dance was staged in the John where they, along with representatives of the Dawson Creek Chamber of Commerce, were entertained by the Fort St. John Board of Trade.

Edmonton traders with the Peace River block will overcome political boundaries, Dawson Creek Chamber of Commerce President McAllan said Thursday in his welcoming address to members of the friendship train. Edmonton and the Peace River block in B.C. must recently maintain the best relations. Mr. McAllan declined to comment on the question of secession of the Peace River block to the province of Alberta. In other quarters, however, it was declared that the question if put to a vote would reveal the majority of the people in the Peace River block in favor of union with Alberta. Mr. McAllan countered that the Peace River country, although divided politically into two provinces, is still an economic and geographic entity of the province of Alberta.

Dr. George Cornsack, of the Fort St. John Board of Trade warned the Edmonton representatives to beware the attractions of the Peace River country.

"Once you've tasted the waters of the Peace River," he said, "you will never go back to the waters of the Saskatchewan."

Red Feather Costs Show Big Gains

Two-Week Drive To Start on Monday For $148,500

Rising food costs are reflected in a substantially increased Community Chest campaign objective for Edmonton this year.

Community chest's two-week drive, opening Monday, will seek contributions totaling $148,500 to carry on 27 Red Feather welfare services here.

Edward W. Stibbard, secretary said today cost of milk supplied to 300 children in chest-sponsored homes has increased by 25 per cent since the end of the war. More than $7,000 was spent on this necessity during the first nine months of 1948.

Bread has also increased in price, and the cost of meat supplied to chest institutions has almost doubled in recent months.

During 1947 Red Feather took 28.4 per cent of chest funds, but judging by expenditures to date this year, current food purchases will require 35 per cent of money available, he said.

Salaries and wages of the staff of chest organizations have increased during the past year. Edmonton's increased population is not likely to provide all of the additional costs of maintenance of local welfare services, Mr. Stibbard said. As a result, donors are being asked to increase their chest contributions by 10 per cent over last year's subscriptions.

Increased participation by groups of Edmonton employees is being noted in preliminary campaigns this year. More than 100 additional groups have sanctioned their intention to participate.

Many employee groups, among them the Civil Service Employees, the Edmonton Civic Employees and welfare committees of local department stores, have already committed canvasses for Community Chest funds.

Dr. Shaner Heads Community League

Dr. Ralph F. Shaner, professor of anatomy at the University of Alberta, was elected president of the Windsor Park Community League at its annual meeting Thursday night. He succeeds Alex Ratcliffe.

Dr. James Calder is the new vice-president of the league. Andrew Stewart, secretary, and J. M. Whidder, treasurer, were also elected.

Dr. Fred Macpherson was named chairman of the risk committee while Mrs. George Manning took over the duties of head of the membership committee.

At a business meeting following the reading of the president's report, Mr. Ratcliffe, it was decided to continue operation of the League's ice rink at 92 avenue and 118 street.

Pensioners Meet Monday Night

Alberta Pensioners' Society will hold a public meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in the IOOF hall, 103 street. Representatives of the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce will show motion pictures and direct community singing at the meeting.

Radio Supervisor To Speak Monday

Work of the international service of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation will be discussed by Wilfrid, general supervisor of this branch of the CBC when he addresses a joint luncheon of the Canadian Club and Canadian Institute of International Affairs at the Macdonald hotel Monday.

Mr. Dilworth was former regional director for the British Columbia division of the CBC. Tickets for the luncheon may be obtained at the hotel wicket Monday.

Handicraft Exhibits Draw Teachers' Praise

New Manager Of Exhibition To Be Named

Appointment of a new manager for the Edmonton Exhibition Association will be made within the next 30 days.

H. V. Price, president of the Exhibition Association, said today that a successor to Charles E. Wilson, who resigned some months ago, will be appointed soon.

He declined to name the man who will succeed Mr. Wilson, saying:

"The new manager will be appointed at a full meeting of the board of directors. We have the field of possible appointments pretty well whittled down but I do not think it would be fair to state who is being considered."

"The appointment is a matter for the directors to decide."

Doctor Lauds Work Of Blood Donor Unit

More than 8,500 Albertans have benefited from the blood received through the activity of the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service.

Dr. C. Greenhill told members of the Rotary Club at their meeting Thursday in the Macdonald.

Dr. Greenhill is director of the Blood Transfusion Service.

More than 100 bottles of blood a month are needed by the service in Alberta, he said, and to keep this stock fresh a large number of regular donors are needed.

The supply can only be kept on hand for 14 days, he said, before it has to be replenished. Blood that has become too old for direct transfusion is treated and made into plasma. None of it is wasted, Dr. Greenhill added.

More than 6,000 cases of patients requiring blood with the RH factor have been investigated by the service since its inception, Dr. Greenhill said.

Rotary Club's donation of $1,000 to the Edmonton Community Chest is now underway.

Dr. Greenhill said that the general manager of the Chest campaign, by president Les Irwin.

Action, Not Oratory

In its trip through the North aboard the Friendship Train, the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce is making a magnificent start towards establishing a mutually profitable liaison between that great rich country and the city of Edmonton.

But this contact is only a start. Unless all these words of cordiality and neighborliness are translated into vigorous action the trip will be a failure and the members of the Board might just as well have stayed at home.

What the North requires is not so much oratory as action.

And upon the concrete help of Edmonton will depend, to a great extent, the future of the North.

Edmonton must fight the North's battles as though those battles were her own.

And they are her own. Whatever benefits the North will benefit Edmonton. Whatever retards the development of the North will dampen the prosperity of this city.

Freight Cars and Farmers

The glut of cattle in the Edmonton stockyards, resulting from the alleged shortage of railway boxcars, is a disgrace to any modern transportation system. The Board of Transport Commissioners should take immediate action on this grave and disastrous situation.

Carl F. Stimpff, president of the Alberta Farmers' Union, declares that the present glut is unusually serious because the heavy fall shipment of cattle has not yet started.

In other words, the routine of the Alberta livestock raiser is dangerously

They are rather substantial battles that face the North and face Edmonton. Within a very short space of time the entire North country must have a complete network of good surfaced roads.

Transportation, as has been said so many times, is the lifeblood of a country. And transportation is a particularly vital matter in a country geographically situated as the North is situated.

The matter of freight rates also affects the North vitally.

The northern areas need, too, more frequent air services. They would be benefited by the application of that new postal rule to their air services that given to people on the main line of the TCA an airmail service at the basic four-cent postal rate.

All these things and many others should be the immediate objectives of Edmonton business men and Edmonton institutions.

And we should seek them for the North, not as an act of charity to a poor relation, but as an act of justice to a valued and respected partner.

disrupted by this failure to provide cars for shipment and will seriously deplete the normal revenue if it is not immediately relieved.

Any blow at agriculture is a blow at the whole province.

And it is both ridiculous and tragic that, with world food shortages, the movement of northern Alberta livestock should be impeded at this vital point.

The relief of this stoppage should be the immediate concern of the Board of Transport.

When we speak of supporting the Philharmonic society we do not restrict our meaning to extensive attendance at the concerts.

The concerts should be attended widely, of course, because they are the best musical value for the money anywhere.

But no Philharmonic or similar society can subsist on concert revenues alone. It is life memberships plus patrons' fees and outright donations that keep any organization of the kind alive.

Edmonton people should be unusually generous in this regard because the Philharmonic is doing an unusual job for Edmonton.

The more a city's growth is accelerated, the greater is the danger of a top-sidel development to the neglect of the cultural aspects of metropolitan life.

In the fourth place, possession of a talented musical group like the Philharmonic is one of the finest advertisements a city can have. This, of course, is a purely material reason for supporting the Philharmonic. But it is none the less important for that.

Minerals In Food

Editor, Bulletin—I do doctors were farmers, they would know that the human race needs mineral supplement, the same as farm animals do. Of course it would be better if these minerals were in the food they eat, but they are not.

Such a supplement would almost eliminate arthritis, heart, kidney, and arterial disorders. C. A. B.

Selsh Unions

Editor, Bulletin—I have not seen any defiance in the public press of the unionism of the day. I am sure that the unionism of the day is a force for good in the world. I am sure that the unionism of the day is a force for good in the world.

I can understand and sympathize with trade unionism when it is for the right and interests of the working class. I can understand and sympathize with trade unionism when it demands special privileges for the workers of labor and sacrifices the interests of the majority of workers.

Come to think of it, I have never known a trade union to go on strike to secure the right of the underpaid majority. No matter how well paid trade unionists may be, they always want more for themselves even though it means less for other people.

It may be doubted whether the class in the community has done more to reduce the living standards of the majority than selfish trade unionism. M. M.

Fourteen Point Plan for Happy Married Lives

Guess there never was a time in history when husbands and wives were so happy as they are now. It is a time when husbands and wives are so happy as they are now.

With the modern method of eleven years' experience as our qualification, Brown, Kye and I have decided to give to the world our Fourteen Point Plan for a Happy Marriage, with every penny of the nickle this paper covers.

1. Under no consideration is total bed. This is probably the basic cause of the current divorce statistics. The old-fashioned double bed is improved in shortening the period of garbage, reducing the false dignity and pride in the act of reconciliation.

2. Do not attach undue importance to quarrels, even those involving the throwing of light objects. Regardless of whether the quarrel is in the quarters or in the public, unless, there is a couple of prize drops.

3. Husbands and wives should not quarrel, unless, there is a couple of prize drops.

Austrian Doctors Settle Here

Young Couple Start Anew In Edmonton

Opportunities offered professional men in Canada have brought two medical doctors to Edmonton from Austria. When a Canadian National Railway colonization car pulled into the Edmonton station Thursday, aboard were two graduate doctors—a young Austrian and his wife.

They are Dr. Myron Lazarechuk and his wife, Dr. Olga Lazarechuk. Both are anxious to practice in Edmonton, but have one big handicap at present, that of learning the language.

They were moved abroad through various countries in Europe during the war and had to learn to speak German and Polish. So they hope it won't be too difficult to master the English language.

GOING TO NIGHT SCHOOL

Both plan to attend Edmonton Public School Board night classes for immigrants and expect to learn enough English to carry on conversation in the near future.

Dr. Myron Lazarechuk, a physician and surgeon, never had the chance to practice properly since he received his degree at Vienna University in 1941, but worked in Polish hospitals until he received the opportunity to come to Canada. His wife is an eye specialist and is also especially trained in the care of children.

WANT TO WORK

Thursday the young couple, both only 27 years old, expressed the opinion, through an interpreter, that they are willing to work at anything in order to get a start in this country.

They both shudder at the thought of returning to their native land, unless conditions change a great deal.

They said there are thousands of other people just like them waiting to come to Canada or the United States, but so far have not been able to make arrangements.

WITH HER PARENTS

The young immigrants were accompanied to Edmonton by Mrs. Lazarechuk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ostfuchuk, who also came here as immigrants. All were displaced persons. They are staying with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Crawford, 2717 Jasper avenue.

A fifth member of the same family, Dr. Nicholas Ostfuchuk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ostfuchuk, stopped over in Montreal for a few days before proceeding to Edmonton.

Also among the immigrants who arrived here Thursday was a Dr. Nicholas Zalesky, who joined relatives at Evansburg, Alta. He was accompanied by his wife and daughter.

Poppy Drive Starts Soon

With the need greatest in its history, annual drive for Canadian Legion Poppy Fund will be in full swing within the next few days. Stewart Pettit, assistant executive secretary of Edmonton Montis branch of the Legion, has been named organizer for the annual drive, while Percy Gernie is chairman of the campaign committee.

The Poppy Fund is used for the relief of needy veterans and members of their families. Poppies and wreaths that are sold during the annual campaign are made by veterans who are unable to work at steady jobs. In many cases money they receive from the poppies is their sole means of livelihood.

Feature of the annual drive is the street sale of poppies on the Saturday preceding Armistice Day. This falls on Nov. 6 this year. Mr. Pettit is now appealing for volunteer canvassers for the street tagging.

Those wishing to volunteer for the tag day should give their names to Mr. Pettit at the Memorial Hall.

Offers for poppies and wreaths from city business firms and private citizens will now be taken at Poppy Fund headquarters established in Memorial Hall.

FENCE IS LINED WITH DOUGHNUTS

VANCOUVER, Oct. 1.—(CP)—This one would make a good theme for a mystery story writer. It's title could be "The case of the missing doughnut."

The doughnuts have been found. The mystery is where they came from. Mrs. E. Fretwell awoke today and found the white picket fence surrounding her home lined with glassed doughnuts from one end to the other. She and her husband gathered and counted the doughnuts. There were exactly five dozen. The Fretwells called the police who carried the doughnuts away and began the task of solving the mystery.

TWO AUSTRIAN doctors who plan to settle in Edmonton are in this family of European displaced persons who reached city Thursday as Canadian immigrants. They are Dr. Myron Lazarechuk and his wife, Dr. Olga Lazarechuk, right. Other members of immigrant family are Mr. and Mrs. William Ostfuchuk. —Photo by Bland

OTTAWA SEEKS DP SANTAS FOR ESKIMOS

OTTAWA, Oct. 1.—(CP)—Attention Santa Claus! A government official confirmed yesterday that Canada is seeking "a few" displaced persons who know the art of reindeer-herding.

A Berlin dispatch said Canada has asked United States officials to be on the lookout for a "few suitable, qualified men" who could instruct "Canadian northwest Indians."

The Ottawa spokesman said qualified DPs would teach reindeer-herding to Eskimos, not Indians. The government maintains a reindeer herd at the mouth of the Mackenzie River in the North West Territories.

Mishap Proves Fatal To McMurray Hunter

FORT McMURRAY, Oct. 1.—Willard Cochran, 33, of Fort McMurray, was accidentally killed last Saturday while goose hunting at Moose Point, about 25 miles from Chipewyan.

It appears that as Mr. Cochran, his father-in-law, Joseph Thurocher, and their guide James Desjarlais, were preparing to leave on a goose-hunting expedition, Mr. Cochran noticed a flock on some water about a quarter mile distant. He decided to shoot one of them, through the grass, at a distance of about 100 yards. The other two men were to go in a different direction.

Shortly after the party separated, the shots were heard, and then a third, after a pause of several minutes.

An Indian who had seen Mr. Cochran crawling toward the geese eventually became curious at the long silence and investigated. He saw the body of the deceased and immediately notified Mr. Durocher and the guide.

Mr. Durocher flew his plane to Chipewyan and notified the RCMP, one of whom returned with him to the scene. The coroner was brought early Sunday morning.

It is believed the gun had been discharged when the deceased had grabbed it in a hurry in the hide-out when a second flock of geese had appeared.

Surviving Mr. Cochran are his widow and five small children, in addition to his father, Curry Cochran, of Fort McMurray, his brother, DuRobert and Kenneth, also of McMurray; Harry of Watrous, Sask., and a sister, Mrs. Grace Campbell of Edmonton.

Funeral services were held here.

Goering Defence Impressed Court

Impromptu Testimony Tribute to Mentality

Werner Bross, one of Goering's defence lawyers at the Nuremberg trial, took down at Goering's dictation his opinions on the subjects, whether or not they were useful for the defence. Today he tells of the strange moves which guided Goering in presenting his case and the manner in which he faced the court.—EDITOR.

Instalment XI. Goering in the Dock

"After all," said Hermann Goering to me, "the defence of Germany is the important thing in this trial. It doesn't matter what happens to a few defendants who are going to lose their heads anyway. What counts is the justification of the German people. Let us accept responsibility and go under with dignity!"

This attitude of Goering's towards the whole Nuremberg trial helps account for his effectiveness in defence. He remained bold, aggressive, quick to take advantage of any loophole in the prosecution case. He felt only contempt for those of his fellow defendants who sought to diminish their personal guilt either by denying the principles they had followed or by trying to minimize their own importance in the regime which was being accused of its crimes.

He was furious at a defence attorney who put it forward as a mitigating circumstance that German people were politically illiterate.

"I could have strangled the fellow," he cried.

It was in a similar spirit that he objected to questions which the attorneys for the SA wished to put to him. In an attempt to establish the innocuousness of that organization.

EXCLUSIVE

He communicated the proposed questions to him and found him quite unwilling to lend himself to any such whitewashing of the Brown Shirts. On the contrary, he glorified in their revolutionary role.

In one of their questions the SA lawyers asked: "Was the SA trained for attack or only for defense?" The SA lawyers, of course, wanted Goering to describe it as a purely defensive organization. The idea annoyed him.

"Does the SA want to turn itself into a sewing circle after the fact?" he demanded scornfully. Another question was to establish the point that SA men had been told that it was the intention never to give up power again once it had been won by legal means.

TRUTH FOR SA MEN

"What did they want us to tell the men who sacrificed their time, their jobs, got their heads broken at meetings?" Goering demanded. "Should we have said: 'We want to win the power and must help us, but as soon as we get into the saddle, we'll be only too willing to give up our places to another parliamentary majority?' That wasn't the idea at all. We fought for power to finish the Weimar Republic once and for all. I can understand that many an ex-SA man in Germany today is worried, but I owe my old SA the truth."

"How about this one?" I asked, and read him another of the questions.

"In your testimony you stated that the majority of the old SA men consisted of decent fellows. By 'decent' did you mean moral decency?"

At this Goering burst into roars of laughter. He could hardly get out his answer, he was laughing so hard.

"What a question!" he exclaimed. "Do they pick me up to ask: 'Oh, those brave, moral SA boys, no—I'll do what I can for them, but they'd better leave out that question.'"

Perhaps one reason why Goering refused to compromise in the interests of his personal defence was that he was convinced it would make no difference anyway. He remarked that the arguments which received the closest attention from the judges were the purely legal ones and regarded a burlesque of the bored attitude of the judges during a non-legal plea for Dr. Schacht, during which some of them leaned their chins on their hands and others covered their eyes to hide the fact that they were closed.

"No use to try to work on their fear glands," he said. "They haven't any."

REFUSES TO WORK

His observation might have led to a careful preparation of his defence, but it didn't work that way. We often asked him to write down in his free time, basic material from which we could work, but he always responded vaguely and never produced anything. In fact, I don't recall seeing during the whole trial a single document which originated from Goering himself.

He even made fun of the others for working hard over their defence.

"Fear is making them stupid," he said scornfully. "Look at Kellie and Himmler. Day after day Kellie tells away writing memoranda and Himmler wrote in his cell until 4 a.m. before he died. I stand against that in principle. Even in my youth, when I had an important examination coming up, I made it a point to rest completely for a week or so in advance. Then I found the examination fresh and rested."

I could not help wondering whether this was entirely a matter of principle or whether it was not due to the laziness of which Hitler was supposed to have accused him.

After that work had on preparation of his defence, he preferred to trust to last-minute improvisation.

MAKES GOOD WITNESS

He made a remarkably strong impression when he began testifying as a witness in his own behalf. This part of his testimony attracted for five sessions of the court—

PILOT Wesley Trumble, 22, of Fresno, Cal., flew the plane that crashed near Portland, Ore. last Sunday, killing five college students returning to Fresno after attending a Portland football game.

In the last few days concerning his replies to the questions he knew would be asked. His testimony bore out the comment British Ambassador Neville Henderson had once made about him: That he had an extraordinary talent for reducing complicated matters to their most simple essentials.

ALLIES IMPRESSED

The result was a good press. A number of correspondents sought me out to get Goering's views and an eminent British jurist remarked that he had "plenty of trumpets." The Anglo-Saxons were impressed by the calmness, firmness and objectivity of his delivery. The French were struck instead by its polished feel as though I were talking through a forest. I can't say anybody, but I know there's something going for me behind every tree.

I outwitted Jackson brilliantly. I said, grinning broadly, "No lawyer could have handled this document any better."

Some of the embarrassment he caused Jackson was due to poor preparation, which had provided the American prosecutor with documents whose translation into English was far from unassailable. One such document formed a major part of Jackson's case against Goering for complicity in the extermination of the Jews, of which he denied knowledge.

Goering produced a letter from Goering's office giving order for a "total solution" and a "final solution" of the Jewish question. The letter implied clearly enough that the extermination of the Jews was its subject, but mistranslations permitted Goering to discuss the letter and the distinction between "total" and "final" in such a fashion that its meaning was thoroughly obscured before he got through it. I was not too far from the last of the last of this triumph, for in the written record of the trial which the judges would study it was not nearly so convincing as in the verbal duel in court. But Goering himself felt highly of his achievement.

I outwitted Jackson brilliantly. I said, grinning broadly, "No law-

George Cross Awarded Airman Posthumously

LONDON, Oct. 1.—(CP)—An official announcement yesterday said the King has approved the posthumous award of the George Cross to Flight Sergeant Stanley James Woodbridge of the RAF Volunteer Reserve.

The announcement revealed a story of remarkable courage in the face of torture by Japanese soldiers and eventual death by beheading.

Woodbridge was wireless operator on a Liberator bomber which crashed in Burma Jan. 2, 1945. He was captured by Japanese with five other members of the crew.

All were subjected to torture in an attempt to obtain information. The Japanese concentrated on Woodbridge, seeking technical information on wireless equipment secret codes and cryptographic keys. Despite repeated torture, includ-

Golden Bears in Strenuous Workout for Game with Huskies Saturday

THERE'S A LOOSE BALL that hasn't a chance of going astray. Ken Moore, giant Golden Bear back, practices "takeoffs" with a view to mastering recovery of those errant balls, possession of which sometimes spell the difference between defeat and victory.

THE BEARS HAVE THEIR FAIR SHARE of "beef-trusts," those pachyderms of the grid world who offer the protection needed by fleet backs if the touchdowns are to come. Snarling at you here are three of the Bears' "fiercest"—from left, Einar Overn, Costa Chrysanthou (discovered by Bears' Egyptian scout) and Mike Bulah. Chrysanthou, fondly referred to as the "Golden Greek," actually comes from the land of Thermopole.

COMPLETED FORWARDS mean large gains and touchdowns if you can hold that pigskin. Here end "Jeep" Hall makes a desperate lunge for the ball. Did he make it? What matter, it's only practice. He's "sure" to tuck them away Saturday against those Huskies from Saskatchewan. —Photos by Bland

Varsity Gridders Ready for Huskies

The Varsity Golden Bears are ready and rarin' for their football game with Saskatchewan Huskies at Clarke Stadium Saturday afternoon.

Starting time for the future is 2:30 o'clock.

After a brisk drill Thursday Coach Don Smith named 34 players who will dress for tomorrow's match. He used 25 as the Bears walked the Hokies last Saturday in the first of four games for the Hardy Cup, score 20-5.

In the backfield the Bears will use Bob Causgrove, Pete Loughead, Dunc Stockwell, Gord Humphries, Jess Hall, Harry Irving, Harry Hobbs, Ken Moore, Jim Macrae, and Jim Mole. Up front it will be Ken Cox, Al Covey, Ted Allison, and Bud Miller at end; Costa Chrysanthou, Garde Hutchison, Bob Marble, and Karl Edman, tackle; Alex Romanik, Hal Millican, Jerry Krause, and Vener Calhoun, guards; Stu Scott and Bill Laurson, centres.

This afternoon Smith and a panel of players will talk football to the student fans at a pep rally on the campus.

At the moment the campus is buzzing with a proposed student excursion to Saskatoon on Thanksgiving Day for the third game of the series. Tom Walsh, publicity manager of the University Athletic Board, has the plan, which, if carried out, will see 600 students travelling on a special train to support their favorites against the Huskies.

8 Teams Enter Volleyball Loop

Formation of an eight-team city volleyball league was completed Thursday night at the Recreation Commission offices. Jack Beilly, supervisor of athletics for the commission, has announced.

Two YMCA teams head the entry while single clubs will represent the RCAF, RCMP, Army, Excelsior, City Police and the Jewellers association. The league will open a 56-game half schedule Thursday, Oct. 7 when a doubleheader will be played. Two games will be staged every Thursday and one each on Mondays, all at the YMCA, Beilly said. The first half of the season will end Dec. 16.

HARRY BALOGH QUILTS AFTER PAY SQUABBLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(CP)—Harry Balogh, famous fight announcer, resigned his job with the 20th Century Sporting Club Thursday after a salary argument with acting director Sol Strauss.

Balogh, who is noted almost as much for his repetitions as for his golden voice and tuxedo clad appearance in the ring, will be succeeded, temporarily at least, by Johnny Addie of Brooklyn. Addie will make his first announcements for the 20th Century Club when Jake Lamotta, New York middleweight, meets Johnny Colan of Astoria, N.Y., in a 10-round feature at St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

It was the second time Balogh resigned over salary differences with the Mike Jacobs organization.

Canadians Lose Game On Rosedale Protest

Rosedale won a committee room battle from Edmonton Canadians Thursday, and as a result the southerners hold a 1-0 lead in the best-of-five games for the Alberta junior baseball championship.

Last week-end the teams split a doubleheader in Rosedale to start the series. Canadians used two replacements, Don Wingfield and Eric Wieland, in these games and Wieland protested their eligibility.

This protest was registered in Calgary with Mac MacLean, secretary of the Alberta Junior Baseball Association, and was reviewed by President E. M. Gaggister. Gaggister wired Canadians Thursday that players who have performed with one team in the provincial playoffs could not transfer to another club as did Wieland and Wingfield.

Canadians picked up Wingfield and Wieland to replace Doug Anderson and Bob Fleming, presuming that such a move would be sanctioned by the provincial association.

The second and third games in the series will be played at Clarke Stadium in Edmonton. The first game is scheduled for 12:30 and the second gets underway at three o'clock.

Members of the South Side Athletics junior baseball team concluded the 1948 season at a banquet in the Corona hotel Thursday night. Presentations were made to Marvin Miller, manager of the team, and Neil Harvey, the bat boy.

Miller announced at the conclusion of the banquet that Wynn and Clark had been selected to attend the San Francisco Seal training camp next spring as per a working agreement between the South Side and the Seals.

Dave Schriner Seeks Release from Leafs

MONTREAL, Oct. 1.—(CP)—Sweeney Schriner and Murray Armstrong, on voluntary retired lists of their respective professional hockey clubs, will have to seek reinstatement as amateurs before they can accept berths they are reported seeking with Regina Capitals of the Western Canada Hockey League. National Hockey League officials said here Thursday night.

Schriner who played in the forward line of the old New York Americans and later Leafs, went on Toronto Maple Leafs' retired list in November, 1946. Armstrong, a defenceman with Americans and later with Detroit Red Wings, is on the voluntary retired list of Dallas Stars if the United States Hockey League.

REGINA, Oct. 1.—(CP)—Officials of Regina Capitals of the Western Canada Hockey League said last night that Murray Armstrong, coach of the junior Leafs, had never been approached by them to play amateur hockey at any level and that Dave (Sweeney) Schriner, working out now with Leafs, has not yet been selected for the team.

CHIEF Elmer, manager of the Capitals said Thursday that Schriner had applied to Toronto Maple Leafs for a release, which he would need if he caught a place on the Regina team.

MONTREAL, Oct. 1.—(CP)—President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League said last night that no requests for reinstatement as amateurs had been received from Sweeney Schriner and Murray Armstrong, two former NHL stars now on the voluntary retired lists of their respective professional clubs.

Yankees, Boston Sox Cling To Slim AL Pennant Hopes

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—(CP)—The axe hasn't quite fallen on the pennant hopes of Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees, both chasing Cleveland Indians to the wire in the tightest American League race in decades.

While the Indians were idle Thursday, Boston defeated Washington 7-3 and the Yankees outcrunched Philadelphia Athletics 9-7. In the other American League game Detroit Tigers beat St. Louis 7-2.

Situation now is that Cleveland is 1½ games ahead with three to play, while Boston and New York have only two left apiece. The Indians open their final three-game stand against Detroit Friday.

BOSTON FANS GIVE UP The Boston fans must have given up on the Red Sox as soon as their Braves copied the National League pennant. The smallest crowd of the season at Fenway Park, 4,908, Thursday saw the Sox to through the motions against the woeful Senators.

The Sox left men on base at an alarming rate, but they hammered Early Wynn out and got another five hits off Sid Hudson in one inning, the fifth, altogether piling up 15 hits which included Stan Spence's homer. Don Duggan had three singles in a row.

At Philadelphia the Yankees had hope of trouble. But when Vic Raschi, third Yankee pitcher, stiffed the last two Athletics batters in the ninth inning with bases loaded it meant the world champions still had a bare mathematical chance.

Over in the National League the day-winners, Boston Braves, were rained out against Brooklyn and had time to ponder the remedy for the disastrous leg injury to Jeff Heath. The slugging outfielder from Fort William broke his left foot sliding home against the Dodgers Wednesday and the great hitter—with a mark of 319 and 79 homers—is lost for the world series.

The tail-end Chicago Cubs—they're no less than 4½ games below the top—ended their home season by beating Cincinnati 1-0.

FLYERS OPEN SEASON AGAINST KIMBERLEY

Edmonton hockey fans will get their first look-see at Frank Currie's 1948-49 Flyers in serious action October 9 when the Allan Cup champs oppose Kimberley Dynamiters in an exhibition game.

The contest has been arranged not only to sharpen up the Currermen for regular league warfare but also as a good-deed affair. All proceeds after expenses have been paid will be turned over to the Community Chest. This should provide a sizeable contribution to the fund for the Dynamiters have agreed to come here for bare travelling expenses.

The Bear vs. The Huskie

No doubt there are several other interesting aspects to the football game between Alberta Golden Bears and Saskatchewan Huskies which now encroaches upon us—Saturday afternoon, Clarke Stadium—but on the local campus the boys are discussing almost nothing except the financial side of this encounter.

They agree, if you ask, that the odds are 10-1 on the Huskies being massacred by the Albertans in much the same manner as they always have been since the post-war era began. Then they return like so many magicians to the prime issue of the day, which is will the public go for the attraction, and, if not, to what extent?

Three years ago U of A promoters, headed by Dr. Maury Van Vleet, offered Huskies and Bears in matches which drew well enough to keep both prairie colleges in the football chips.

However the appeal in those clashes was the uncertainty surrounding the outcome. Neither Bears nor Huskies had played in earnest during the war. No one knew for sure what would happen.

As it has worked out the Green and Gold consistently has sent the Huskie dogs home whimpering with their tails between their legs throughout 1945-46-47 so that everybody is pretty certain as to what will happen when next they tangle on the gridiron.

Huskies on a Jopride?

The Bears haven't the line they had last fall but they still dwarf the Saskatchewan forward line, to say nothing of their backs. The Huskies are wide-spread, therefore, that once again the Huskies are going against the present Harry cup champions just for the ride, and a short one at that.

There were many such university football games played before the war. Some of them drew quite well, for there always has been a certain amount of college spirit displayed by Alberta alumni.

But very few of those "Alberta-will-swamp-Saskatchewan" affairs were contested at Clarke Stadium which is more than somewhat out of the way for the students, for instance. In the old days the Bears played the majority of their inter-collegiate games on the Varsity grid, a less pretentious park but one that is a mere stone's throw away from where thousands of the students are domiciled.

The worry is that in these days of the deflated dollar the Huskies may not pack 'em in sufficiently to pay the shot.

In fact as a tribute to the absolute non-mystery of the Huskies' recent form they were welcomed to the Saskatchewan Bears at Saskatoon last week-end the University Athletic Board has reduced the cost of season tickets for students from four dollars to the half of it. But even on this basis it is agreed that if the two Alberta-Saskatchewan games here draw at all well it will be because of hard work and hipper-dipper salesmanship.

The T May Pack 'Em In

One thing which may inflame Saturday's fight into a paying proposition is the fact that the Bears, once again, are the Saskatchewan crew, have introduced a new attacking game for the Huskies. It is a diamond formation in the backfield and moves fast. The right. Whether they be able to use it frequently or not depends on how often the Bears let them have the ball, which will not be too often, judging by past results.

Another possibility is the T-formation which the Bears have been polishing up lately. Coach Don Smith likely will turn loose swift backs like Harry Irving and Harry Hobbs on this speedy type of attack. It should be a sight to see.

Living in a national quarterback for the T and can hit a man in the eye at 40 yards with a forward pass, like the Mohs, Ken Moore, Jim Hoyle and Jim Macrae figure to pick up a lot of yards in this manner, if the blocking is effective.

However, one team does not make a football game. The Huskies don't figure to come within three touchdowns of the Bears—five is regarded as a far more likely margin.

Cagary Fans Solidly Behind Lear's Stamps

CALGARY, Oct. 1.—(CP)—Football and Calgary's collecting Stampers are the talk of this Foothills City today.

Their red-hot supporters are just about ready to mortgage city hall back up bets that Coach Lear's new ex-scholarship Cowboys will end Winnipeg's 10-year-old reign over western Canada gridiron.

But not Lear and his staff.

SLEEPY GAME
"We, the western tribe—why goh, I haven't even thought about it," the busy Stamp collector said. "Right now we are too busy making plans for this week-end's game against Saskatchewan Roughriders and Winnipeg."

"Football in the west is played on pretty slippery stuff—mud and ice are great equalizers. Even if we do have rolling in by the gear, there are still those two all-important plays that come to win before a team is crowned champion."

But Lear is a long way from missing out on the exciting contest. "This is the grandest club I've ever had the privilege to work with," said Lear, a former Blue Bomber linebacker himself.

Schooling Lear's statements, veteran fullback Paul Howe said the spirit of the club was about the best of any Calgary squad since he started playing here in 1938.

ROCK-LIKE WALL
Main power of the club line is in its rock-like forward wall that makes opposing ball-carriers wither as they run backwards. Only once this season has the opposition been able to carry the ball across the Calgary goal line.

Adding the experience of big-time United States football to the club are imports Keith Spauld, Johnny Aquino and Woody Strode. Quarterback Spauld—the club's triple-threat star—and Tackle Johnny Aquino played with Honolulu Warriors last year; Night End Strode with the professional Los Angeles Rams.

Spauld and Strode currently are the hottest passing combination in the circuit with Spauld hitting the target with his bullet-like passes for a better than 300 average.

Dr. W. G. Hardy Back From Europe

Edmonton will be the headquarters of the International Ice Hockey Federation for the next three years.

The "headquarters" came here with Dr. W. G. Hardy, who returned Thursday from an extended business-pleasure tour of Europe. Dr. Hardy, a long-time university educator, attended the I.H.F. meeting at Zurich, Switzerland, in July. He was accompanied by Al Picard of Regina, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Dr. Hardy was elected president of the I.H.F. for a three-year term at the Zurich meeting where the Czechoslovakia has 25,000 ice men, Sweden 18,000 and Switzerland 6,000.

The doctor travelled more than 12,000 miles in his journeying in the more than three months, visiting Rome, Naples and Athens, to mention a few points of interest.

EUROPE DEVELOPMENT

He had praise for the development of the ice game in Europe and the high calibre of executive the various countries have at the head of them.

A new constitution was drawn up at the July meeting and included a section that Europe would recognize the Canadian definition of an amateur so far as hockey teams went. Theoretically, then, the C.A.H.A. could send a squad of related professionals to Europe as amateurs to compete in simple pure tournaments.

He also reported that word was coming from the Czech Republic that Jaroslav Drobny, Czech Davis Cup tennis star, and outstanding hockey player, was considering turning professional with a U.S. pack team.

Meeting of Royal Bowlers Tuesday

Annual general meeting of the Royal Lawn Bowling Club will be held in the committee room, Parliament Buildings, at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening.

Reports will be submitted regarding activities of the past season and election of officers and presentation of trophies and prizes also will take place at the club. All members are urged to attend.

Schriner's Comeback Plan Runs Up NHL Blind Alley

By Stan Mohr

(Bulletin Sports Editor)

Recently Clarence Campbell, the local boy who parlayed a Rhodes scholarship and a nugget full of savvy into the presidency of the National Hockey League, took a whack at the policy of "our" loop—meaning the Western Canada circuit. At the same time he highlighted what obviously is a growing sore spot with professional hockey men.

The NHL, press was being interviewed by Hugh Lethbridge Herald-Buchanan, editor at hand, the contemplated entry of Dave (Sweney) Schirmer into the WC circuit, as a member of the Regina Capitals.

Campbell expressed the opinion that the one time great Toronto Maple Leaf, who was reinstated Thursday from an extended suspension, would not be playing for Regina this winter, said Mr. Campbell significantly, "If he wants to play hockey, why doesn't he play in a league that's in the business?"

WHATS THIS?

The Western Canada league not in the business? Not if you can believe the professional operators. More and more the men behind the pro circuits look askance at what they label the "amateur" going-on of such as the Western Canada and the Quebec Senior leagues.

"If they're going to pay the players why don't they 'show' it as the rest of us have done?" one professional operator asked. "It's not a question of ethics, either. Actually behind the scenes aversion for the way of going of the WCIL, for one, is the increasing difficulty being experienced by the professionals in luring players away from Edmonton, Calgary and other western centers in to the pro ranks."

The boys from the prairies just laugh off these things that would have made headlines 10 years ago, when a dollar still meant something. All this is bad for the morale of the big operators.

Lady Luck Didn't Favor Henry Martell at Open

Henry Martell had plenty of bad luck at the Canadian Open at Vancouver last week and then was given another jolt when he was refused entry into the Canadian Professional Golf Association tournament this week. Bud Loftus, Alberta open champion, said on his return from Vancouver Thursday.

Loftus, who finished as eighth amateur in the Open with 310, reported on the dolings of Edmonton's entries at the coast tourney.

Martell, conceding an excellent chance of making a good showing in Canada's major professional tournament, had some "rough breaks" in the draw, Loftus reports.

One day he started out early in a heavy rain. After he finished the skies cleared, giving an advantage to the later starters. The next day the morning was fine but Martell's feed-off late and was caught in more rain.

As for the CPGA tourney, Martell's entry was refused because he had not been a pro for three years. Yet as Loftus says, Dave Dixon of Red Deer, who played in the Canadian Amateur in 1946, was allowed to take part.

Used Charges Drugs Used at Olympics

LONDON, Oct. 1.—(AP)—A prominent London doctor said Thursday that some continental European athletes during the summer Olympic Games were stimulated by drugs, much in the manner of race horses.

Dr. Christopher Woodward, director of the athletics clinic at London's Middlesex Hospital, excoriated all British and North American athletes.

When he was asked what specific event he referred to, Dr. Woodward replied "sports in general and cycling in particular."

The 35-year-old physician, an official medical adviser to the British Olympic team, first wrote of the drug-taking in a letter to the magazine Cycling.

Yesterday he told a reporter: "I'm sick of this dirty business. It's time it came out."

"It is my own personal opinion that this drug-taking, by others, was a very large factor in Britain's not achieving Olympic or world honors this year."

Dr. Woodward said in his letter to Cycling: "I became very suspicious that some competitors were receiving artificial stimulants at the Olympic Games. However, I could not find definite proof of what I suspected, so at that time I kept an open mind on the subject."

"Two or three weeks later, however, I was able to see things at clear range at the world's cycling championships at Amsterdam, where I spent some of my time on the inside of the track.

"Very few people other than our own team knew who I was. Imagine my surprise, therefore, when a garrulous foreigner very surreptitiously tried to show me his pet concoction of strychnine, caffeine and benzadine."

"One of our team came up to me while at Amsterdam and asked me why he should not take such drugs."

Dr. Woodward said he told the British athlete "nothing whatever justifies" it, but added: "I believe that our British boys were themselves under suspicion, but I am convinced that they have not fallen to the temptation."

Declaring that drug-taking before sporting events is "more widespread than people think," Dr. Woodward said:

Teachers Delay Action On Leaving Association

Edmonton city teachers delayed action in severing connection with the Alberta Teachers' Association convention circuit when they met Thursday for their annual convention business session.

Motion to break away from the ATA convention circuit and schedule convention dates, and arrange for guest speakers without assistance, was tabled after a heated discussion.

Various teachers protested the present early date of the annual convention, and suggested that January would be a more suitable time. Convention dates are now scheduled for both city and rural teachers by the ATA executive.

Under present circumstances, guest speakers attending the city convention are also able to visit Edmonton and Calgary only and of scheduling meetings later in the school term.

200 Undergrads Wind Up Training

Varsity Officers Receive
Reports on Candidates

Nearly 200 University of Alberta undergraduates took part in the armed forces' summer training program this year, according to latest reports received here.

The army had the greatest number of students in summer service with 10 cadets attending 10 courses at nine military centres, ranging from Chilliwack, B.C., to Montreal.

Lieut-Colonel Murray Van Vleet, army commanding officer on the campus, stated that according to reports received from camp commanders, the summer program was better than had been expected, with the cadets considered to be "outstanding officer material."

Summer activities in the air force were of a different nature to those of the army, with only observer personnel considered for summer employment.

However, some younger undergrads were given training in pilot and radio officer courses. A total of 52 students, including 13 novices, served at 11 detachments this year.

The navy contingent of 35 cadets and other candidates trained on the west coast. A two-week cruise on the R.C.N. cruiser Ontario completed the cadet summer hitch in the navy, while the officers' cadets were based for the larger part of the summer on the shore station at HMCS Naden.

Courses in navigation, seamanship, signals and damage control were among those offered the senior cadets.

A short cruise to San Francisco highlighted the summer training program of the seniors.

More Teachers
To Graduate
This Season

Though registration in the faculty of education at the University of Alberta is down from last year's record, Hon. Ivan Casey, minister of education, said today more teachers would receive certificates this year than last.

He explained this was due to the type of courses being taken by educational students.

He said there should be 353 teachers with elementary and intermediate certificates launched into the profession when the term class next spring.

This is greater than the number graduating a year ago, he indicated.

Fur Coat Market Showing Odd Signs

By Bea Thrifty

There are gentle murmuring and behind-the-hand discussions of the question "Is the bottom falling out of the fur market?"

Naturally, none of the furriers will commit themselves at this embryonic stage of the rumor. But if you watch the ads, you'll notice 1949 styled furs, good back muskrats and the like, selling at almost reasonable prices.

Stock market news gives no indication one way or the other. It stands to reason however, with cost of living at its present level, not many medium-income people are dashing off to the furriers to buy a mink or fox.

But I'll keep one eye on the stock market... one eye on the activities of the furrier... and both ears on the chatter of local hucksters.

Guess what Mr. Thrifty likes to see on the dinner table? Pickled onion no less. You know, the tiny silver ones.

Well, you can buy the pickling onion at 15c per pound... and hurry, hurry with that end-of-the-season picking.

Pears, peaches and plums... for preserving... are still in the stores in volume. And at fairly reasonable rates.

Some of the fruit is a wee bit too ripe for preserving... but you should be able to manage it. Prune plums can be had for $1.85 per case. I found these in a funny little store just off the main drag.

Apples, raw red and crisp, good, are selling at a variety of prices. Jersey wrapped ones are available in most stores for 36c per pound. There are some stores where 35c will win you a very nice apple, but for only two pounds of the fruit.

Caligally, delicious cooking apple, are still going strongly. At 4c a pound for 25c or even 7c a pound for 15c.

Flamboyant wallpaper designs are becoming increasingly popular. You can buy the paper, stencils with large, colorful flowers, looking like one great big water-color picture.

Or you can buy subbed patterns in bright pastel shades. Then you can mix them up. Fashions in interior decorating, as in clothes are varied and interesting this season.

I have some interesting work in lace but the Halls of Britain plan on display in one of Edmonton's department stores takes the cake.

It was produced to perpetuate the epic of bombing of London, and as a tribute to the island people who so gallantly saved their home country.

The panel is 63 inches wide and five yards long. The designing and production took two years.

To keep those precious linens from turning yellow, paint the inside of your linen closet blue. You'll find your linens will stay a snow white.

Mmmmm... just about time for that pumpkin pie with whipped cream in everything.

Why Grow Old

Many Allergies Cause Unpleasant Skin Trouble

By Josephine Lowman

Many women write me stories of skin trouble which are suggestive of one or more allergies.

I have outlined many times in this column treatment for blackheads, whiteheads, enlarged pores and pimples.

If your eyes are sometimes swollen or itchy, or if you break out in rashes, you would do well to investigate this condition by seeing a specialist.

Many women do not realize that allergies of all kinds can cause such rashes.

If you have an allergy it simply means that certain products you use or foods you eat affect you in a special way, that you have reactions from them which others do not. We have long noticed this in the question of foods. Some persons can handle a certain food with comfort while others break out in hives or have swelling or indigestion from the same item on the menu. Strawberries, for instance, will cause a rash on some people and eggs are often offenders.

The field of allergy carries over into the field of clothes and cosmetics, too. If you are having complexion trouble of a special sort you should bear this in mind. Some women are allergic to woolen regular lipstick and nail polishes and powders without a resulting inflammation.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Expectant Parents Plan Care of Babies

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

The following is a heartening letter but it leaves me no place to go except to answer through the column, obviously not what the gentleman intended.

Mr. H. B. writes: "I have been an ardent reader of your column ever since I learned that I was to be a father. I would appreciate any of your letters, all or more than one. I would like to use them for reference. Thank you in advance for sending me the leaflets."

Dear Sir: Where shall I send them? You forgot to include even a hint of an address. May I ask that you send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and I shall be happy to send you as many as three or five of the leaflets most pertinent to the early months. All leaflets cannot be sent to anyone. Think how many there are of you who might like them!

But, the gentlemanly desire to build up a body of information before one is informed in the emotional business of rearing a new baby is one I applaud and commend.

This is a good moment to know what you are getting into before you get into it. Thinking is far clearer BEFORE the baby begins to arrive.

You can't listen to every Tom, Dick and Harry and keep your parental balance. Someone is sure to say, "Oh, don't let him get the best of you, or you'll have a spoiled baby." And some other who says "Don't let him get the best of you, or you'll have a spoiled baby." And some other who says "Don't let him get the best of you, or you'll have a spoiled baby."

Our leaflet No. 5, "The First Six Weeks," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Hospital Ward Rates of $1.00 In New Plan

CALGARY, Oct. 1.—(CP)—Mayor J. C. Watson said last night Calgary will have to provide public ward hospitalization for all city ratepayers at a rate of $1 a day before obtaining a proposed $600,000 federal-provincial construction grant for the city's new general hospital.

In a report to aldermen, the mayor disclosed the Alberta government only plans to make the grant available in a municipality or part of a municipality "in which all necessary ward hospitalization is available or is to be made available to the ratepayers and their dependents at a direct cost of one dollar or less a day."

The report said "renters will be outside the scope of the $1 a day rate for the present."

Public ward rates in Calgary now are $2.50 a day. City officials estimated that the city would have to subsidize hospitals to the extent of some $115,000 a year should the grant be accepted under the terms laid down by the provincial government.

Complete details of the government plan is expected to be reviewed at a council meeting Monday.

The grant was initiated by the federal government and offered on condition that the province equal the federal contribution.

Church Council Debate Unsettled

World Conditions Reflected At United Church Meeting

By Robert Phillips

VANCOUVER, Oct. 1.—(CP)—Unsettled international conditions were reflected in the nine-day conference of the 12th General Council of the United Church in Canada here.

Proclamations on many issues before the council, showed the new temper of world affairs.

"The spirit of debate and discussion was about as unsettled as the times," said Very Rev. T. W. Jones of Montreal, retiring moderator, today.

At the final session, Rev. Gordon A. Sisco, general secretary, warned delegates: "We should concentrate on a few things and not try to cover the whole earth."

SWEEPING SCOPE
Notwithstanding the more than 400 ministerial and lay delegates from the church's 11 Newfoundland and Canadian conferences did try to cover a sweeping scope.

Intentionally they took the stand as the recent Amsterdam world council of churches on the rivalry between Communism and capitalism.

They condemned neither by itself, but selected as more in keeping with Christianity and the church's in the internal purpose of the church, the council pointed out three deficiencies as the main obstacles to progress:

1. A lack of spiritual conviction and response on the part of a large section of the church.

2. A shortage of personnel and full-time candidates for service to the church.

3. Insufficient annual revenue to do its work properly.

THE LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE

Here is a trick photograph designed to show that even though the husband has gone to his reward the widow of any departed Moose can see in the clouds of gloom the reflection of Mooseheart where the Loyal Order of Moose will educate her children and prepare them for their exalted part in the bright life that lies ahead.

now let go the four and eight of diamonds, blanking down to the king.

Mrs. Sobel guessed the situation and played her ace of diamonds, dropping the king and at the end she simply conceded a club trick.

If North had kept the king and a small diamond and blanked Mrs. Sobel would have thrown him in with a heart and forced him to lead from the knighthood of diamonds into her tenace position.

BRIDGE

This Game Bid Has Slam Possibilities

By William E. McKenney

Mrs. Helen Sobel of New York City, lived up to her rating as the outstanding woman bridge player of the world when she again came through to win a championship at the national tournament held in Chicago, last week.

Mrs. Margaret Wagar, Atlanta, Ga., Charles H. Goren and John H. Crawford, Philadelphia, won the masters mixed team-of-four title.

One might think that in blitzing Mrs. Sobel, it would be quite thrilling to watch her execute fancy plays, but that is not so. She does not rely on the spectacular. Precision and care are the great qualities of her game.

There does not appear to be anything particularly startling in today's hand. But Mrs. Sobel knew that to win the match she should make six-odd, especially if North held the ace of hearts and king of diamonds and she proceeded to play on that assumption.

She won the opening lead of three of hearts in dummy with the queen, cashed the king and queen of spades and overtook the jack of spades with her ace. Then she immediately played a heart. If North had gone up with the ace, Mrs. Sobel would have had 12 club tricks. But North made it so difficult as possible by playing low.

Mrs. Sobel won in dummy with the king, cashed the king of clubs and led a low club to her ace. Two more rounds of spades were led and North who had discarded a small diamond on the third spade

Moose Order Aims At Vast Program

Order Has Pioneered
Care of Children, Aged

In the aims and purposes of the Loyal Order of Moose, emphasis is placed on the vast philanthropic program of the fraternity. While the order yields first place to no organization in the completeness and attractiveness of the social life in its lodges, it can count by the thousands the number of members who remain in good standing in the lodge, largely because of their desire to continue as active participants in the child welfare and other philanthropic programs of the fraternity.

WILL CONTINUE

Furthermore, society today recognizes the fact that the Loyal Order of Moose has pioneered in child education and in the care of the dependent aged. And it will continue to pioneer as long as the cry of a child or the sigh of an aged one is heard.

In a third of a century Mooseheart has grown from a few acres of rolling prairie to nearly 1,300 acres of parklike estate on which are included all that go to make the "City Beautiful." More than 28 million dollars has been expended in the development, maintenance and operation of the Moose child city built on these acres.

Mooseheart has more than 100 fireproof buildings of modern concrete, including a central bus line and power plant, a high-school building, several large industrial shops, many fine student homes, attractive residences, and a modern farm plant. The products from firm and dairy contribute from 50 to 60% of Mooseheart's daily food requirements.

BEST IN WORLD

But, well-kept grounds beautiful and substantial buildings do not express the spirit and purpose of a place. Mooseheart, first and last, is a home. It is a school—in both points acknowledged to be the greatest of its kind in the world. This can best be shown by setting down clearly its educational concept.

The educational concept of Mooseheart is to take full account of the needs and capacities of the individual child and fit the instruction to that individual, to the end that he may best adjust himself to a complex, changing social and physical environment.

Both academic and vocational guidance are given. Instruction in 15 trades including agriculture. No difficulty in finding employment for a graduate because of his training; employers bid for his services.

But members of the Order of Moose are not the only ones who enthusiastically approve of Mooseheart's system of training.

WIDELY ADOPTED

Mooseheart's methods have been written into the laws of our federal, state and local governments. They have been adopted in many primary schools for the civilized world. They have become a part of the warp and weft of our social fabric. Indeed, they form the design and pattern of that fabric.

GOVERNOR of the Loyal Order of Moose, Lodge 772, in Harry Wilson. A painting and decorating contractor in the city, Wilson joined the local order in 1944.

Mooseheart has received applause from more men and women high in political, social, industrial and professional life than has any other enterprise of its kind in the world over.

What a compliment to the founder of Mooseheart, James J. Davis, who, when Mooseheart was founded in 1913, sounded for all time this principle: "Every child is entitled to at least a high school education and instruction in the trade." Then the principle was new, startling, provocative! Today, it is accepted by the educative world as axiomatic.

But, in defining the service that Mooseheart gives its children, this feature must never be overlooked.

AVERAGE HOME

Each child at Mooseheart is reared in the religion that prevailed in the family home. Religious life at Mooseheart is like that in the average American home where religion is a part.

Its Mooseheart proved the value of its service. Consider this amazing fact: Since its founding in 1913 Mooseheart has uninterrupted maintained the highest health record of any institution of its kind. The mortality rate of the young citizens at the child city has always been the lowest, less than one-tenth of one per cent.

Nearly 4,000 boys and girls have been cared for and received instruction at Mooseheart. Of the graduates, almost 200 are now in college, or have received degrees there.

MOOSEHEART, ILLINOIS, one of the most unique communities in the United States and one of the outstanding fraternal projects of America is sponsored and maintained by the Loyal Order of Moose, which boasts of nearly a million members throughout Canada and United States. This unusual community, occupying 1,200 acres of fertile Illinois prairie is a city unto itself and is located 35 miles west of Chicago. It is known all over the world as the child city. It has its own fire department, hospital, bank, post office, stores, farm and stadium. It was founded July 27, 1913 by the late Senator, Hon. James J. Davis of Pennsylvania. Shown above are several of the modern buildings and features at Mooseheart. Edmonton members and their families are entitled to all benefits and share in the cost involved in its upkeep.

Here's a typical Moosehaven, Florida, cottage where Moose members and their wives may grow old amid all the comforts of life. Notice there are no stairs to climb, no steps to stumble down. Best-represent members of the Loyal Order of Moose have mislaid nothing which will add to the contentment of aging members.

Judging from the way these old boys are stepping it off the fish must be biting in the beautiful St. Johns river which is more than 3 miles wide at this point. The buildings in the background are some of the many built by the Loyal Order of Moose at Moosehaven, Florida, for the comfort of aged members.

No wonder the man in the chair is smiling. His hair cut costs him nothing. The barber is not smiling because someone told a joke, either. He's paid for his work by the Loyal Order of Moose. All four men live at Moosehaven without expense due to the thoughtfulness of lodge brothers. The barber is said to be the only one in America who sits as he works.
